

Business news in brief from around New Jersey

83 words

20 September 2004

11:28 pm GMT

Associated Press Newswires

English

(c) 2004. The Associated Press. All Rights Reserved.

HOUSTON (AP) - Concourse Communications will conduct the first trial of its wireless phone service at Newark Liberty International Airport, the company announced Monday.

The trial will use Concourse's Voice Over Internet Protocol (VoIP) network. Participants will be able to make calls with VoIP handsets, laptops or personal digital assistants equipped with special client software.

The trial is scheduled to begin this month, and subsequent trials are planned for JFK and La Guardia airports.